The Alderney Gambling Control Commission (AGCC) welcomes the joint initiative of the Remote Gaming Associate (RGA) and European Gaming and Betting Association (EGBA) in formulating and publishing the CEN Workshop Agreement on Responsible Remote Gambling Measures.

André Wilsenach said “As an initial statement of best practice in the area of eGambling operational standards, the agreement is close to Alderney’s own published statements of eGambling standards and guidelines.”

Alderney has for many years been a leading contributor in the development of published minimum standards for the eGambling sector at the regulatory level. In the light of the current country-by-country evolution of eGambling licensing and regulation, common standards - whether developed by regulators or operators - form an important basis for cross-border co-operation and efficiency in the development of a reputable industry.
